Dear

Greetings from NCDEX Institute of Commodity Markets and Research (NICR)!

On behalf of the NICR, would like to partner with your prestigious institution for building capacity on the Commodity Derivatives Market.

We at NICR, 100% subsidiary and a group company of National Commodity & Derivatives Exchange (NCDEX) offer education on Commodity Derivatives Market through Webinars, Workshops, Guest Lectures and Certificate Courses. We have created various learning videos and online courses in a self-learning mode, where students can learn at their own pace and test their knowledge.

We would like to start the collaboration with a webinar of 2 hours on Commodity Derivatives Market exclusively for the students of your esteemed institution.

The courses, sessions and workshops on commodity derivatives market will prove to be invaluable to students for learning and help understand the unique rules and market practices for commodity trades, market operations and structure, products, trading terminology, besides fundamental and technical analysis of individual commodities.

These sessions and workshops are suitable for even if students have little or no knowledge of commodity futures trading, exchange operations, and want to learn how this market can add value to their career prospects. The sessions and workshop will be highly interactive and a mixture of lectures, discussions, and case-based exercises.

We encourage you to visit our website www.nicrindia.com and our education page for further information.

NICR offers a concessional course fee, for bulk registration from the Institute at one instance.

We hope these courses, sessions and workshops will benefit the students of your institution and enable them to stand up high in the corporate world.

We would be happy to connect with you for any further clarification.

Looking forward to your response.

Stay Positive, Stay Safe and Stay Healthy.

Thanks & Regards.
